6.5 gb 14.5 download 2020 crack partition master 13.9 2021 crack .Become a Fan 05 December, 2012 my week 5 I hope everyone had a fun weekend and week! I started week 5 already on Monday. I just cannot get over how fast time goes by! I missed 3 days this week due to our sweet babysitter and husband being out of town and then husband was out of town again Thursday until today. I feel like I am on a yo-yo because of work and our baby's schedules. I am trying my best to balance it all, but I know I won't be able to keep up for much longer. I love the weekends, but the consistency of getting up and getting things done is tough. This year is getting harder and harder. I made my Traditional Thanksgiving Weeknight Menu last week. It was a quick and easy dinner. Today I am going to share the first recipe. Prepare the sausage. Once ready, set sausage aside and remove from heat. Add flour and whisk to combine. Gradually add chicken broth and beer. Bring mixture to a simmer, whisking constantly. Transfer mixture to a stockpot and continue to simmer on low until thickened and smooth. If your apartment does not come equipped with a crock pot, I suggest using a large slow cooker. If you have a slow cooker, we use it all the time. The best part about crock pots is you can preheat them hours before you start cooking. While the gravy cooks, prepare the stuffing. Once ready, set aside and remove from heat. Let mixture cool a few minutes and then stir in sausage. To assemble - I like to make the stuffing while gravy cooks. If you are not a fan of the processed stuffing, the stuffing recipe I am sharing below has the whole wheat breadcrumbs and cranberries. Place about half of stuffing mixture into your prepared baking dish and gently spread with the back of a large spoon. Cover with the mashed potatoes, smoothing out as much as possible. Sprinkle the cranberries over the top and top with the remaining stuffing mixture. Spread the rest of your gravy over the top. To roast - at 350 degrees F, cover dish with foil and bake 35 - 40 minutes. Remove foil and bake another 5-10 minutes, until the potatoes are golden brown and the stuffing is heated through.
